Washington, D.C. – The Council of the District of Columbia confirmed the nominations of Sheila Miller and Stanley Jackson to serve on the Board of Directors of the District of Columbia Housing Finance Agency (DCHFA). Miller is the Vice President of Multifamily and 55+ Housing Industry at the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB). Jackson leads the Anacostia Economic Development Corporation (AEDC), as its President and CEO. Jackson has been reappointed to a term of one year and Miller's appointment is also for a year long term.

"Sheila's national perspective and experience in senior housing, real estate, and finance will allow her to bring a unique viewpoint to the Board and make significant contributions," stated Todd A. Lee, Acting Executive Director, DCHFA. Prior to joining NAHB, Miller worked at Fannie Mae for nearly 18 years, where she held various positions in the Multifamily Mortgage Business division. The last position Miller held at Fannie Mae was as the Director of Seniors Housing Loan Production and Lender Relationships. As the Director, Miller personally negotiated and closed over $1 billion in seniors housing loan transactions between 2014 and 2015. Miller is a native Washingtonian. She grew up in, and remains a resident of, Ward 5. "While my professional experience has been nationally focused, I have always desired to put my professional background to use in my hometown. There has not been a more exciting, but also challenging time for housing in our City. Serving on the DCHFA Board will enable me to contribute to decisions that provide and preserve affordable housing for new and existing D.C. residents," stated Miller.

"Stan not only brings 30 years of housing and economic development experience in the District, but invaluable institutional knowledge of DCHFA having completed two previous terms of service on the Board of Directors," said Acting Executive Director Lee. Jackson's initial tenure on the DCHFA Board of Directors began in November, 2012. Jackson stated, "My career experiences and demonstrated body of work, along with my previous experience as a Housing Finance Agency board member, affords me the opportunity to make a positive contribution to the efforts of the Agency."

Jackson's career accomplishments encompass key public leadership roles in the City including Director of the District of Columbia Customer Service and Real Property Assessment Services Administration in the Office of Tax and Revenue; Chief of Staff to the District of Columbia Office of the Chief Financial Officer; Director of the District of Columbia Department of Housing and Community Development; District of Columbia Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development; and Acting President of the University of the District of Columbia.
